international musical festivals.

Since 1940 Bacevicius had lived in New York where he died.

The archives received by Lithuania included thousands of letters of the composer where he used to express his attitude to life and creation.

The archives also contained photos, records and other relics.END